Go all the way left from the last treasure to find a switch puzzle, complete it (125 ice resistance, 11 weight). Brawlhalla The "brawl" in Brawlhalla pretty much says it all for this fighting game that is similar to the popular Super Smash Bros. It's a quick and easy way to get some bonus experience each day. These repeatable quests task players with delivering certain items to NPCs for a generous amount of experience points. Regular and Deep Dungeon runs are good, too, but they're harder to double up with a source of entertainment — like a Let's Play series on your phone. Further reading Leveling your first Battle Class Final Fantasy XIV is built around battle content. The ideal leveling process incorporates daily bonuses that make playing in bursts generally more favorable than rushing through the experience. They can send you on a goose chase for not a lot of EXP. You fight in competitions with up to four players, and the ultimate goal is to knock your opponent out of the arena to score points. You'll want all the practice you can get if you're new to crafting, so kicking off each item isn't a bad way to chip away at your experience bar. Fishers, keep leveling up by hitting level-appropriate holes. It's a good idea to burn Gathering Points (GP) on abilities during these missions to increase gathering percentages, so stock up on Cordials, bring some decent stat-boosting food, and hope the odds are in your favor. Let's take a look at a few of the top-rated free PC games, according to Tech Radar and PC Magazine, across a range of genres. Craft one of everything While not absolutely necessary, new crafters can enjoy a burst of experience points simply by crafting an item for the first time. They won't do much when turning in Guildleaves, but they'll really help speed things along when doing actual crafts. Notice that little checkmark next to that item you just whipped up for the first time? Until level 60, roughly, you can rush Levequests. Feel free to complete those if and when you're able. In this game, you must coordinate with your teammates to destroy the opposing team's base. Items that boost experience points are available — like the "Brand-New Ring" awarded through the Hall of the Novice questline at level 15, a headpiece through Recruit-A-Friend, or several signature outfits bought with real money through the online FFXIV item shop. Leveling another Battle Class Final Fantasy XIV is different from most other MMOs. A single character is free to master every class, meaning sidequests will eventually run dry. Rested (50%) Company-Issue Engineering Manual (50%) Free Company (guild) buff or Aetherial Wheel (Up to 20%) Food (3%) How to grind Crafting Classes The final type of Final Fantasy XIV class is the humble Disciple of the Land. It's an invisible buff we call the Armory Bonus, and it magically cuts the grind of leveling subsequent classes by a good margin. Still, it's a decent way to push through levels when you're between optimal dungeon runs and/or waiting for a queue to pop. Custom Deliveries Available at around level 50, these weekly turn-ins are quick and easy to pull off. They're fast, convenient, and award a metric ton of experience points compared to other methods. Any class level 72 and above is welcome. Better yet, most will reward you with the materials you need to craft the item in question, making it that much easier to repeat the Levequest over and over. Casual grind method: Until about level 15, you can hit several new nodes. If gathering resources, building structures and shooting at your enemies is what you look for in a game, Fortnite is the game for you. You won't get that addictive, time-limited EXP buff these days, but dungeon EXP was boosted to make runs less chain-focused and intensive gauntlets. This way, you'll level up and experience the game and its locations as the developers intended. Photo Courtesy: @SMITEGame/Twitter Pro Evolution Soccer 2018 Lite Pro Evolution Soccer (PES) is one of the bestselling video game franchises of all-time around the world. Those disappear very quickly. Leveling these classes will be fairly uneventful, but their predictability and relative simplicity make them great candidates for things to level while you watch a movie or listen to a podcast. Simply check the week's delivery list, buy the necessary items from the appropriate vendor, and craft six of the requested items as best you can. Collect some valuable gear, and then focus your attention on Collectibles and Custom Deliveries. Just like combat classes, there are a few different ways to go about leveling. EXP buffs Final Fantasy XIV has slowly introduced more and more ways to boost experience point gains. The most time-efficient method is to rely on daily and weekly bonuses. Some teams and stadiums are only available with the paid version of the game, but fan favorites like FC Barcelona and Manchester United are included. You have to plod through the game's main storyline before you're truly free to do your own thing. A.I. Squadron Dungeons If you're not in the mood to run with real players, running select dungeons with A.I. squadron members can fill in. Smite also features a rotating roster of free characters that can be permanently purchased with in-game currency or bought in packs with real cash. Hardcore grind method: Craft, craft, craft. The game also continues to make an effort to perfect the fan-favorite Master League mode. Photo Courtesy: @FortniteGame/Twitter Even if you aren't playing with friends, it's easy to find a match to join, and the game is highly addictive. Buffs Available If you're a gatherer, you can speed up the game and up the ante by using experience-boosting tools, a lot like the crafting classes. League of Legends League of Legends is one of the most highly played multiplayer online battle arena (MOBA) games available for the PC. Just like Levequests, handing in a high-quality item will net more experience points. Well, one of the best parts about the game is that you can play with your friends — regardless of which platform they have, PC or gaming console — so get ready for some "friendly" backstabbing. Photo Courtesy: @Brawlhalla/Twitter Smite Smite is another popular MOBA, this one with its champions being gods from ancient pantheons and classic myths. Hardcore grind method: For this method, players should continue hitting the maximum level node they can chain comfortably. By Nintendo. But sidequests aren't the best way to grind levels on subsequent classes. If you're an angler, focus on tackling Ocean Fishing as much as you can. Don't waste the bonus items you win this way. But if you absolutely must grind your way to the finish line, choosing between FATEs and Deep Dungeon runs tends to be the go-to route. There are plenty of ways to level up in Final Fantasy XIV, but new players should focus on the main scenario quests, something we touch on a bit in our FFXIV beginner's guide. Turning in six of these items you a big chunk of weekly experience points and some scrips to boot. Chain bonuses successful swings at the same item in a single node means farming the same Ash Log might not actually be a bad idea. If you're worried about what a gaming hobby could do to your tight budget right now, we've got you covered. Armory Bonus (100% below level 60, 50% thereafter) Rested (50%) Free Company Battle Manual (Up to 15%) Wearable items (varies) Food (3%) How to grind crafting classes A subset of classes in Final Fantasy XIV, Disciples of the Hand are a collection of crafting-based classes like Blacksmithing, Culinarian, and Goldsmithing. Grind by gathering Similar to crafting classes, discovering a new item awards bonus experience points. Beast Tribe dailies like the Namazu and Moogle can offer a reliable boost each day. You'll need them in the next ordeal to get some chests.Ordeal 7 - On your way to the top, after defeating the miniboss.Ordeal 7 - When you get to the crossroad where you have to choose between going up and taking the pipe on the left side, go for the pipe.Ordeal 8 - From the entrance, go all the way up.Ordeal 8 - Then go right at the second pipe.Ordeal 8 - Now, you'll find another crossroad, with a cube to your left and a pipe to your north. You'll get a bonus for your first run of each dungeon on a single character (not class), so if you're new to the game, you'll have plenty of bonuses to get from the dozen or so dungeons you'll unlock at each previous expansion's level cap. The game is played from a third-person perspective, making combat feel much more dynamic. You can use these on new equipment or books that will unlock gathering nodes, some of which are exceptionally rare and valuable. The FATE GrindOnce the bastion of level grinding, FATE farming isn't quite the behemoth it used to be. Photo Courtesy: @officialpes/Twitter The "Lite" version of Pro Evolution Soccer is free and gives players access to the Online myClub and PES Matchday Mode in addition to playing in Local and Co-op Matches and honing their skills in Training Mode. At 50 and above, the hardcore method comes into effect again, but take it easy once the weekly bonuses have been spent, as you'll notice things slow considerably after this point. Think that sounds bloodthirsty? Preferably without using Quick Synthesis. The boosts can really add up over time. When it comes to escaping the real world and killing a little time, it's hard to beat the magic of some PC gaming. They're not all too different from regular gathering, but they do require some simple math to ensure you hit their goals. Once defeated, go north, you'll notice a hidden climbable wall with a chest in there.Ordeal 4 - Now return to where the purple crystal is and go all the way to your left. Each character has its own set of weapons to use during a match. At that level, you'll find the game is pretty similar to other gathering classes. A simple swing and a miss will reset that beautiful chain bonus. Like League of Legends, Brawlhalla engages in a weekly rotation of playable characters, but you can always purchase your favorites using in-game currency you collect as you play. With four expansions now under its belt, Final Fantasy XIV has seen its level cap go from 50 all the way to 90 — unless you only have the FFXIV free trial. Custom deliveries offer quick and easy bonus experience each week, and the scrips are an added bonus. That's a little fish pun for you there. The game does provide opportunities to earn game currency as you play, which you can then use to purchase champions. Once done go a few steps back and climb down all the way to find another 3 treasures and the last ones of this dungeon.You'll unlock this achievement after completing the following events:The End?Reached an ending. Stacking them will make for a much faster crafting experience and should be in effect at all times. Rely on Squadron dungeon runs and the Hunting Log to reach level 50 while avoiding matchmaking queues. You can do that for any item on your recipe list, and doing so grants a one-time experience point bonus. Grinding still won't be the fastest way, but it sure is less demanding of your attention. Go north first to find 2 treasures.Ordeal 8 - Now make your way back to the crossroad and climb the cube this time.Ordeal 8 - Go all the way up from the last treasure, crossing the pipe to find another one.Ordeal 8 - Take a few steps back, before crossing the pipe and go left.Ordeal 8 - From here climb all the way down using the cubes, there will be a miniboss and a chest next to it.Ordeal 8 - Make your way back to the previous chest and take the left pipe to find another one.Ordeal 8 - Ok, it's time for some puzzling. So what do you do? Casual grind method: There isn't much reason not to abuse Levequests all the way to the level cap. Just stick a movie or audiobook on in the background and get to work. You'll find that you can get a significant bump up through Beast Tribe dailies like the Namazu. The more you raise the item's quality, the more EXP you'll get when you finish the craft. The experience point rewards are generous and multiply for high-quality crafts. Collectables Locked behind the game's first major expansion. Collectables feel like a combination of traditional grind gathering and Levequests. Guildleaves Probably the least (and cheapest) way to level any crafting class at this point is to devote yourself to Levequests. Matches take place between five-person teams that focus on destroying their opponents' bases and towers. They come in a few flavors, but "Charity" Guildleaves, denoted with the image of two female crafters, tend to offer the greatest time/experience ratio as you can turn in three sets of items at a time. Screenshot gave this fighting game a "Very Good" rating. Casual grind method: If you only have a few hours to spare each day, the game's daily/weekly bonuses can get you a lot of EXP fast. Instanced dungeonsBefore Shadowbringers released, running a dungeon at the unlock level offered the best EXP gains thanks to the Chain Bonus. Just look on the map for those 2x bonuses. For those willing to pay a bit more attention, Leves will be the way forward yet again. Grand Company turn-ins Often overlooked these days, your chosen Grand Company will request a random level-appropriate craft from you each day at the turn-in counter. Eventually, you can try spearfishing between Ocean Fishing runs. What that means is dungeons are still a good way to grind EXP, but with new ones being around three levels between each other, the repetitive runs can get old fast. Identify the requested item on the list, locate it out in the field, and gather it at the highest collectability value that you're able to. The typical relic grind it's expected to deliver will double up with our max level roles. You'll have to contend with some wonky A.I. from time to time, but the raw killing power of these NPCs paired with massively increased EXP rates can make short work of the 18 to 50 portion of the Final Fantasy XIV level grind these days. Too many failed gathering attempts can lead to drastically reduced EXP rewards. Just uncover each new item in a new area and then go after the one with the best gathering chance. Ocean Fishing Fishers have a unique way to reach the cap faster. By stacking as many of these equipment pieces and consumables with the Armory Bonus, you can boost your experience point gains from battle up to as much as 250%. If you see any "unknown" items on the gathering list when you open up a node, successfully gathering them for the first time will uncover their true identity and give a decent amount of bonus EXP compared to each swing at the same item. To move quickly, we advise stacking as many things as possible and making sure you keep any Company-Issue Survival Manuals. Don't expect to master the complexities of this game overnight, but the action starts as soon as you click the "play" button. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET Castle Exnive (27 treasures) Note: This dungeon doesn't have a map, so I'll just put screenshots of the treasures and a brief description.Ordeal 1 - Entrance of the dungeon, go forward from there, easy to spot.Ordeal 1 - It's in the big pipeline, take the northeast path at the crossroad.Ordeal 1 - Just before proceeding to the next screen, left side.Ordeal 2 - After the section where you have to go up between two pipes, you'll spot this chest up there, take the small pipe at the north to get it.Ordeal 2 - Hard to miss, it will be in your way to the third ordeal.Ordeal 3 - At the very start of this area, take the path up before descending.Ordeal 3 - Just after descending from the last treasure, you'll find another pipeline, this chest is at the right dead end.Ordeal 3 - A few steps ahead you'll see another chest at the distance, just continue going north to get it (the non visible part of the wall is climbable).Ordeal 3 - When you get to this area, don't climb the "cube" just yet, instead, go to the right side to find another chest.Ordeal 4 - From the save point, go all the way up, you'll fight a miniboss here. Previously one of the more long-winded classes to grind, the Ocean Fishing mini-game has turned it into a breeze. In Heavensward zones and above, these can sometimes offer up 2x their normal experience points. Levequests Gathering Levequests — or Guildleaves — usually asks you to gather a specific amount of items from a specific amount of nodes. There are a total of eight crafting classes right now, and we don't anticipate another arriving anytime soon. The game dumps you into a world with 99 other players, where you engage in a free-for-all battle until only a single player is left standing. FATEs are found all over the game world, can usually be easily soloed with appropriate gear, and award a decent chunk of your EXP bar for the few minutes they can take to complete. Custom Deliveries Another repeated activity, custom deliveries are just as good for gathering classes as they are for crafters. Photo Courtesy: @LeagueOfLegends/Twitter The game rewards careful tactics and good teamwork and is always free to play, but if you want to keep your character after a week or add any special features and enhancements to your game play, you will have to pay a fee. Over the years, Final Fantasy XIV has introduced a dizzying number of ways to gain EXP. Whether you're hardcore grinding or taking a more casual approach, hopping on the boat each hour Ocean Fishing starts up will net you the best gains. That's a lot of levels to fight, chop, and craft your way through, but we have some essential tips for the hardcore or casual player who is in a rush to maximize gains and reach the cap fast. It won't be a fast journey, but you'll have to complete the main quests to do the top-tier stuff anyway, so you might as well just go with the flow. Fortnite Fortnite is arguably the most popular of the Battle Royale games to hit the tech world in quite some time. PC Gamer rated Smite an 86 out of 100, with particularly high marks for its arena combat. Buffs available Like any class in Final Fantasy XIV right now, crafting classes can utilize a bunch of buffs to increase their gains. Photo Courtesy: eclipse images/E+/Getty Images With the world still dramatically slowed down due to the global novel coronavirus pandemic, many people are still confined to their homes and searching for ways to fill all their unexpected free time. Get lucky with your appraisals and you'll turn these items in for some very impressive experience points. You'll earn plenty of experience points when delivering these items, and you'll even get "scrips" used to purchase powerful crafting gear. Well, there are a bunch of ways to level subsequent classes, and while some are faster than others, they're generally far more repetitive, risking player burnout that much faster. It's not as clear-cut as the classic MMO days of grinding the same mob cluster for days on end. (avoid the crystal, it's a shortcut to the entrance) You'll find a treasure in one of the pipes.Ordeal 4 - Keep going until you find another big pipe, easy one.Ordeal 5 - Another easy to spot, you'll see it from the entrance.Note: There will be another teleporting crystal here, take it if you need and get Mirages that can get to 125 ice resistance and 11 weight. These items have critical value for gatherers, unlike crafters, because you have to gather during Levequest grinds. To aid that, any battle class under your highest level class will always gain experience points at 100% of the usual rate, dropping to 50% at level 70 and above. Here's how to quickly reach the max level in Final Fantasy XIV. The fun of gaming gets even better when you find games you love that you can play for free on your PC. Leveling these classes can be a difficult and time-consuming process, but each one can help with the other that remain, making each new class a little easier than the last. You can carry this on all the way to 80 or jump into the Bozjan Southern Front at 72 to add a bit of variety to the final dash. Available through timed nodes, time management is key as you follow the clock around zones and rely on your class abilities to gather specific items. Those with ample time on their hands, plenty of snacks, and maybe a spare screen for some Netflix bingeing can master all the avenues to grind their way to the top. Reach the Second Lieutenant rank with your Grand Company to access them. League of Legends uses a freemium model where characters rotate weekly, and certain extras cost money. Hardcore grind method : If you're up for playing 12 hours a day, FATEs are, as they always have been, the way to go. Editors' Recommendations Each year, new editions don't necessarily offer many new features versus previous years, but they do tend to introduce gaming improvements like better dribbling and player responsiveness. The Bozjan Southern FrontUnlike the last relic-specific zone we had in Stormblood — called Eureka — the Bozjan Southern Front won't have us gaining experience independent of our main level. With just Fishing, Botany, and Mining available right now, these gathering classes are far fewer than their crafting counterparts — but they go hand in hand in numerous ways. If you're rolling in Gil, you can even buy the required items and pass them off as your own. Be wary, though; that action could have a negative effect— players will face the consequences for the swings they miss mid-combo. Better yet, if you see the mention of the "stench of death" attracting a Forlorn Maiden to the field during a FATE, be sure to kill it to get a buff that will award 2x EXP on your next FATE clear. Better yet, the scrips you earn for doing so can then be exchanged for some simple endgame gathering gear. Get the Guildhest and Dungeon first-time bonuses when they're relevant to your level, clear your weekly challenge logs, and focus on burning through any extra rested EXP you've accumulated while at work, etc. Switch that up with FATEs if you run out of Grand Company currencies. You can absolutely live your life as a crafter or gatherer once you hit the level cap, but you'll need to do so in a single battle class before you can turn your life around like that.
